LET'S TALK ABOUT

BULBS + LIGHT

Light bulbs shape a space through type, shape, color, and temperature. These factors affect brightness, mood, color accuracy, visual comfort, and ambiance, allowing tailored lighting for functionality, aesthetics, and atmosphere.

BULB TYPES

INCANDESCENT

Incandescent bulbs produce warm, natural light by heating a filament. They offer excellent color rendering but are less energy-efficient than modern LED bulbs.

LED

LED bulbs are energy-efficient, long-lasting lights that offer versatile brightness and color options, providing reliable illumination with lower energy use and minimal heat.

BULB SHAPES

A (ARBITRARY)

A-type bulbs provide standard, general-purpose lighting for common household fixtures.

B (BLUNT)

B-type bulbs are decorative bulbs commonly used in chandeliers and sconces.

C (CANDELABRA) & CA (CANDLE ANGULAR)

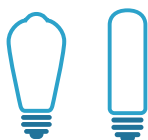

C-type bulbs provide candle-shaped illumination for decorative fixtures like chandeliers.

CA-type bulbs offer curved candle shapes for elegant decorative lighting.

G (GLOBE)

G-type bulbs are globe-shaped, ideal for vanity and decorative lighting.

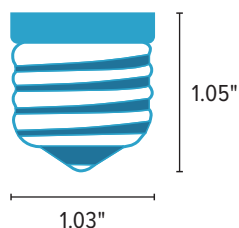

ST (STRAIGHT-SIDED) & T (TUBULAR)

ST-type bulbs are vintage-style tubular bulbs, perfect for decorative lighting.

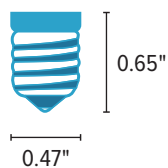

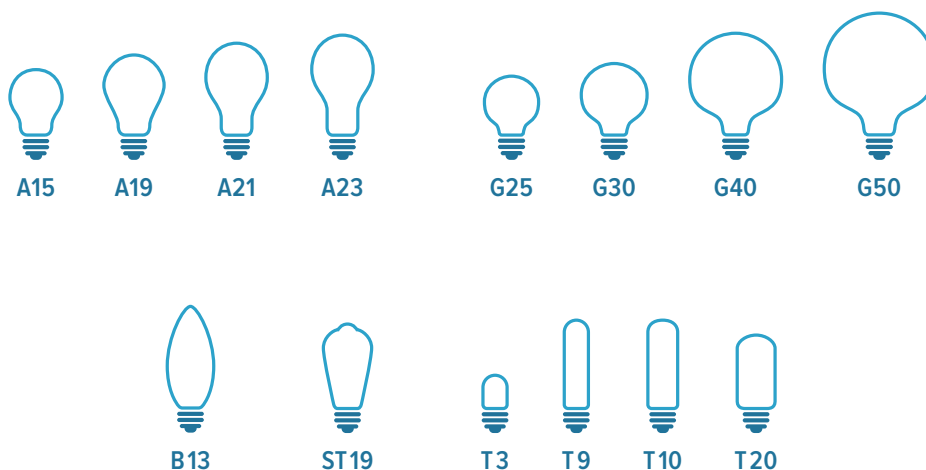

T-type bulbs are tubular, commonly used in under-cabinet and display lighting.

BULB BASES

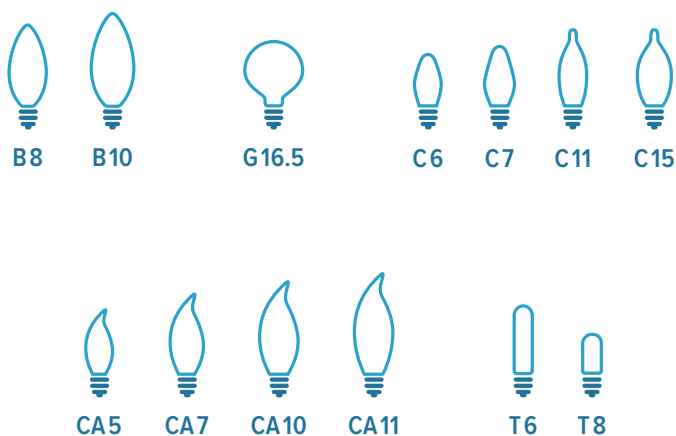

MEDIUM-BASE (E26)

Medium base bulbs, commonly known as E26, are the most widely used light bulbs in residential and commercial settings. They fit standard sockets and support many bulb types, including LED, incandescent, and CFL, making them versatile choices for lamps, ceiling fixtures, and everyday general lighting applications.

CANDELABRA-BASE (E12)

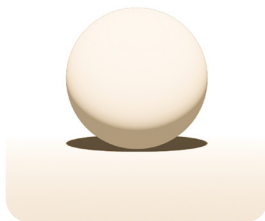

Candelabra base bulbs, typically E12, feature a slim base designed for decorative lighting. They are commonly used in chandeliers, sconces, ceiling fans, and accent fixtures. Available in incandescent and LED options, these bulbs provide softer illumination, elegant aesthetics, and precise light control for ambient and ornamental lighting applications in interiors.

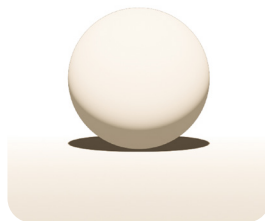

COLOR & TEMPERATURE

CCT

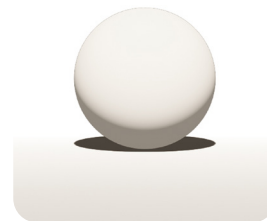

Light CCT, or Correlated Color Temperature, describes the warmth or coolness of light. Lower CCTs feel warm and cozy, enhancing relaxation and skin tones, while higher CCTs appear cooler and crisper, improving alertness, contrast, and perceived cleanliness, influencing mood, comfort, and visual clarity within a space and overall visual experience.

CRI

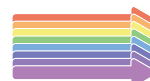

Light CRI, or Color Rendering Index, describes how accurately a light source reveals true colors. Higher CRI lighting makes objects, skin tones, and materials appear more natural and vibrant, while lower CRI can cause colors to look dull or distorted, affecting aesthetics, clarity, and overall visual perception in a space.

CLASSIFICATION	CRI
Ultra-High CRI	95+
High CRI	90-94
Good CRI	80-89
Poor CRI	70-79

BRIGHTNESS

LUMENS

Light lumens measure how much visible light a source emits, directly shaping how a space feels and functions. Higher lumens create brighter, more energetic environments for work or safety, while lower lumens produce softer, calmer atmospheres ideal for relaxation, mood, and visual comfort through thoughtful lighting design and placement choices.

LET'S TALK ABOUT WHERE TO INSTALL

Proper fixture placement transforms a space's functionality and ambiance. Ceiling, pendant, and wall lights require specific heights for clearance, balance, and comfort. While layered, evenly spaced lighting ensures flattering, visually harmonious illumination indoors and outdoors.

ABOVE A SITTING AREA

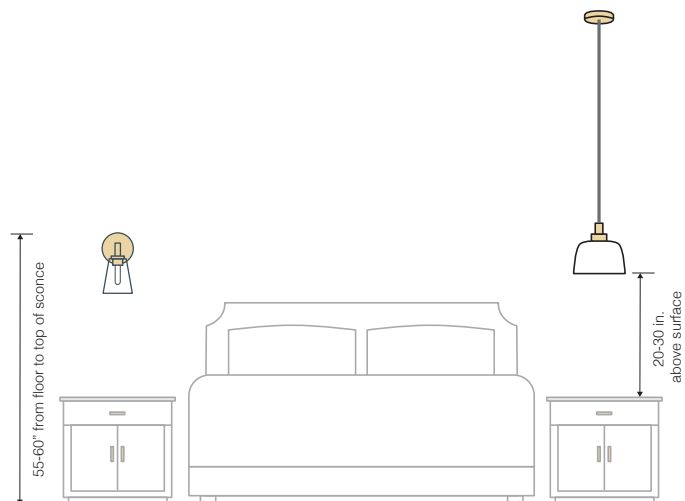

In open living areas or great rooms, ceiling fixtures like chandeliers or semi-flush mounts should allow for at least 7 feet (84 inches) of clearance from the floor to the bottom of the fixture. For spaces with higher ceilings, consider using fixtures with vertical presence or layering light with floor and table lamps to create depth and balance.

BEDROOM

SCONCES & PENDANTS

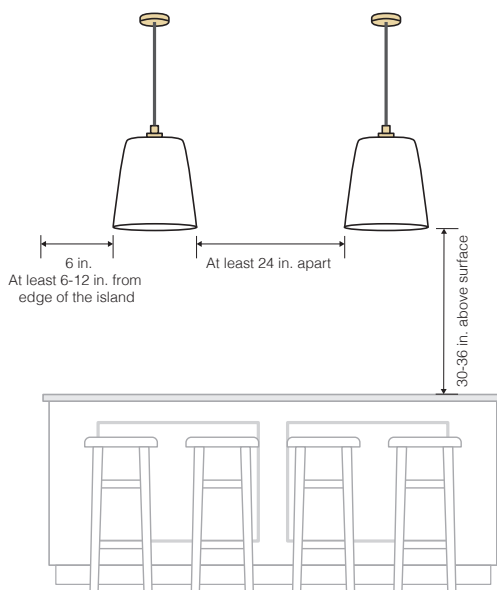

Wall sconces and hanging pendants are popular choices for adding ambient or task lighting beside the bed. For wall-mounted sconces, position them about 55 to 65 inches from the floor, or roughly in line with shoulder height when seated or lying in bed. When hanging pendants, aim for 20 to 30 inches of space between the bottom of the pendant and the top of the nightstand to ensure easy access and prevent glare. Always center the fixture horizontally over the nightstand or adjust as needed for balance and reach.

KITCHEN

OVER A KITCHEN ISLAND

When placing pendants or linear fixtures above a kitchen island, aim for a hanging height of 30 to 36 inches from the countertop surface to the bottom of the fixture. For multiple pendants, space them approximately 24 to 30 inches apart to provide even lighting and a visually pleasing arrangement. Odd numbers of pendants—such as three—tend to create the most balanced look.

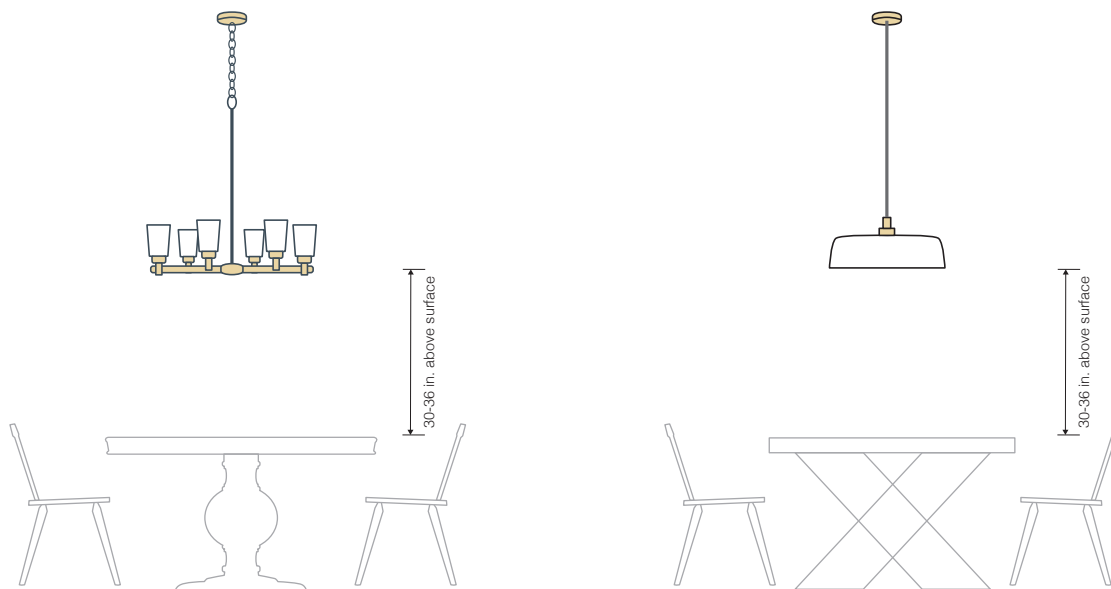

NOTE
For small pendants, space at least 18 in. apart

ABOVE A DINING TABLE

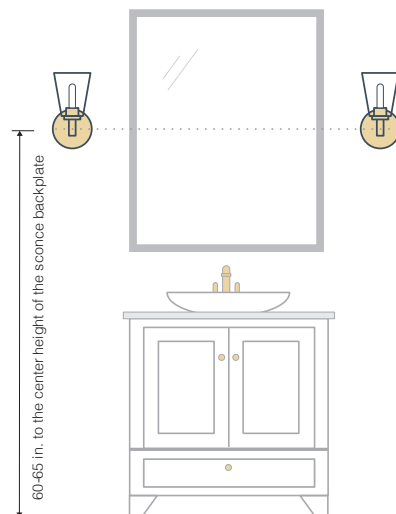

For balanced and flattering illumination over a dining table, whether hanging a chandelier or pendant, we recommend hanging your light fixture so the bottom sits 30 to 36 inches above the tabletop. For ceilings taller than 8 feet, consider adjusting slightly higher to maintain visual proportion and allow for comfortable sightlines across the table.

BATH

BATHROOM VANITY SCONCES

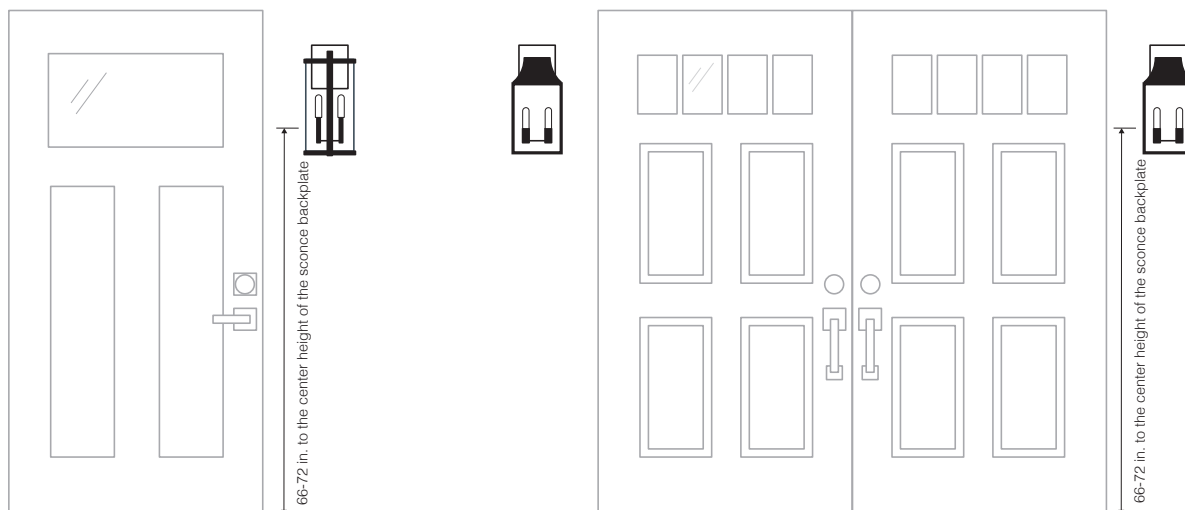

For ideal lighting at the bathroom vanity, sconces should be mounted so the center of each fixture is 65 to 70 inches from the floor. Placing them on either side of the mirror, approximately 36 to 40 inches apart, helps minimize shadows and offers even, flattering illumination for daily grooming.

OUTDOOR

WALL LIGHTS (NEXT TO DOORS)

Outdoor wall lights should be mounted with the center of the fixture positioned 66 to 72 inches from the ground. For single-door entries, placing one fixture at about one-third the height of the door creates a well-proportioned look. For double-door setups, use matching fixtures on each side to frame the entrance and enhance curb appeal.
